

Atmospheric Seeing Brief - 2025

Cinder Peak Observatory

This brief summarises the median nightly seeing measured at Cinder Peak through 2025. Seeing - the blurring of stars by atmospheric turbulence - is reported in arcseconds, and lower is sharper. The monthly medians are shown in Figure 1. The autumn nights were consistently the sharpest of the year.

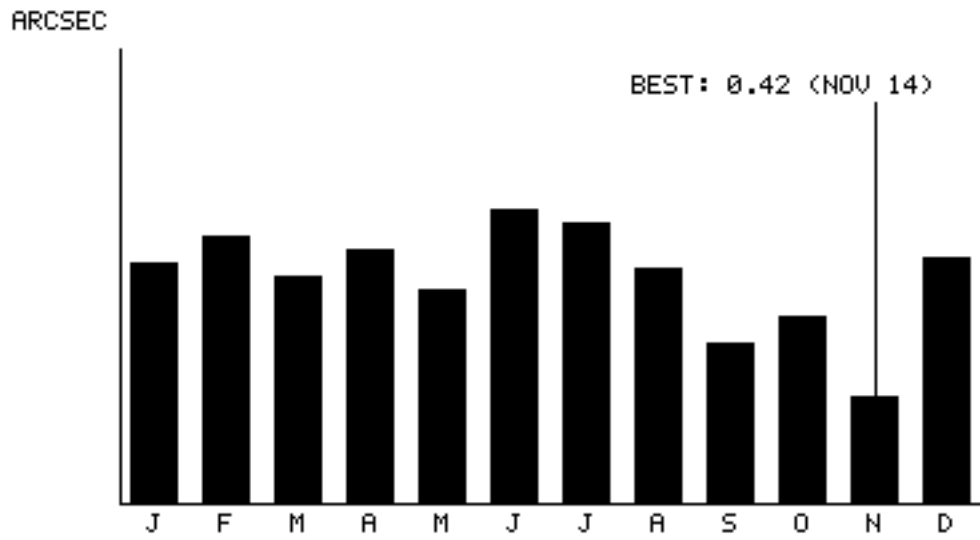

Figure 1. Median nightly seeing by month, 2025.